Primary source information

Thousands of sources

Verisys Data Products

Health care transactions are trust-based transactions and the failure to verify, comply, manage risk or reputation could be very costly to your organization. Verisys Data products support a well-deployed compliance program, mitigate risks for revenue and reputation loss and help you to know the employees, providers and vendors they engage are not high-risk and that their credentials are accurate.

Verisys data products are based on primary sourced information from thousands of sources. Our clients use our data products to ensure that every health care transaction is valid based on the credentials of the provider.

Data Products

The following are a sample of some of the many primary source solutions available through Verisys®.

- DEA Registrant Database Search allows you to credential practitioners against the DEA registrant database to verify that a practitioner is registered to handle controlled substances .
- Sanctions and Disciplinary Actions Search leverages the powerful FACIS solution to pull information from Federal and State sources including OIG, GSA, DEA, FDA, ORI, PHS and Tricare plus all State boards that issue certificates or licenses to practice.
- Provider Licensing Search provides you with professional licensure information across all professional taxonomies by State for all boards and agencies that issue certificates, registrations or licenses to practice or deliver healthcare goods.
- SSA-DMF (Death Master File) is used by government, financial, medical research and other industries to prevent fraud.
- The National Provider Identifier (NPI) is loaded into the Verisys system with each version release and historical NPI information is maintained in the data base.
- OFAC Plus (Office of Foreign Assets Control) is available to screen individuals in conjunction with the Dept. of Treasury program for enforcing economic and trade sanctions..

Each data product employs rigorous quality control and sophisticated technology to link disparate data sets.

transparency is power

You can't afford not to have a clear picture of the people, professionals and companies you deal with.
